

Synthesis Essay Reflection --Due March 14th on turnitin.com

Think about the process of writing this synthesis paper. As you entered into research the topic, what difficulties did you have? What did you find interesting? What was your original thesis and how did it change? How did your ideas about the topic change or develop over time? With what components of the project (definition, comparison, causation, etc) did you struggle? What was clear? Did you feel that you were successful in your synthesis paper? Why? How did your paper change from the rough draft to the final draft?
